

Report for Extending - Arundel's Conservation Area

From Cllr Standing

After speaking with to Arun District Council's Conservation officer Martyn White.

For Arundel to be able to extend its Conservation area it needs go through a process that has community involvement, a consultation process then hopefully it will be agreed to extend the Conservation area.

A working group needs to be formed of interested parties from the community. Martyn suggested that the group needs to be of a size that the work will be achieved. As the group will have to appraise the current Conservation Area, then write a report of what needs to change if anything.
