

The Queen's Platinum Jubilee

We plant this tree today in honour of our Queen.

A monarch like her the land has never seen

She is like an Oak tree, sturdy in our ground

Kind, courageous, calm, simply sound as a pound!

For 70 years she has reigned, of her we are so proud

Because of all of this I say we should clap out loud

Give thanks to our lovely Queen and the land on which she stands,

Keeping her people safe and happy in the palms of her hands

3 cheers for Her Majesty

On her Platinum Jubilee

By Amara, St Philip's Catholic Primary School

Jubilee Poem

*Her glorious triumph we proclaim;
Queen Elizabeth, her royal name;
A wondrous ruler of far and near;
Being the Queen her joyous career.*

*It is the Queen's Jubilee;
In her honour we shall sprout a tree.*

*In Jubilee Gardens, with townsfolk standing round;
A commemorative medal and seeds planted in the ground;
The grand celebration for Her Grace's Platinum Jubilee;
Is celebrated by the life of a very memorable tree.*

*It is the Queen's Jubilee;
In her honour we shall sprout a tree.*

*For 70 years the Commonwealth has been loved by her;
But in this world a platinum jubilee has never before occurred;
The crowds cheer and shout while feasting on their food;
As a token of our loyal nation's devoted gratitude.*

*It is the Queen's Jubilee;
In her honour we shall sprout a tree.*

*People will leap up from their seats
And celebrate joyously in the streets;
The monarch will celebrate in Buckingham Palace
And we will make sure no tree is helpless.*

*It is the Queen's Jubilee;
In her honour we shall sprout a tree.*

*God who put us on this earth
Made us see what each tree is worth;
I think that I shall never see
A poem as lovely as a tree.*

*It is the Queen's Jubilee;
In her honour we shall sprout a tree.*

*We will show the utmost respect;
Our gift of nature we shall protect.*

*I think that I shall never see
a poem as lovely as a tree.*

*This is the Queen's platinum Jubilee;
For this occasion, we shall start the life of a tree.
Today we plant a memorable tree
In honour of The Queen's Green Canopy.*

By Children from Arundel Church of England Primary School

*I am very pleased to plant this tree
In the gardens called the Jubilee
I hope it won't be too long
Before it grows big and strong
I will visit from time to time
And rest under its branches - so sublime
When I will think back with great pride
To this day with the cubs by my side*

By James, 1st Arundel Cubs